

Red Jets Hit Swedish Plane

Crew Saved By Baltic Steamer

Stockholm, Sweden, June 16 (AP)—Two Soviet jet fighters, one firing bursts from 20 MM cannon, blasted an unarmed Swedish air force flying boat from the skies today, plunging it into the Baltic. The crew of seven, including two wounded, was rescued by a small freighter.

Immediately, an aroused Swedish government, reflecting the anger of shouting, jeering crowds which surrounded the Soviet embassy here, protested this "act of violence" and demanded swift punishment of "those responsible for the outrage."

Tonight 5,000 enraged demonstrators yelling "we will see Stalin hanged," jammed the street outside the Soviet embassy and set bonfires. They also chanted: "Down with the Communist warmongers." Police squads forced the crowds to retreat.

At the time of the attack about 80 miles off the Soviet-held Estonian coast, in an area where the Russians are reported to be holding vast sea and air maneuvers, the Swedish plane was searching for a Swedish air force transport plane missing since Friday with eight men aboard. This plane, too, is believed to have been shot down by the Russians.

Assaults Spying
Prime Minister Tage Erlander demanded that Soviet embassy officials stop spying activities in this country where seven Swedes went on trial today for selling vital defense secrets to Russian agents. At that trial, the accused ring leader pleaded guilty to charges of espionage and making preparations to wreck Sweden's defense plans in case of war.

At Hangö, Finland, where the seven rescued Swedish airmen were taken after being fished from the Baltic seas by a German freighter, crew commander Capt. Sven Gosta Toerngren said "we were attacked by two MIGs, but only one of them shot at us." The attack lasted nine minutes, he said. "Maybe it was an accident, maybe the plane was sent to bring us down," he told newsmen. "I don't know."

Toerngren said the plane's pilot, Axel Arbin, and navigator, Bertil Engberg, were injured. "But I don't know if they were hit by bullets or if they were hurt at the crash against the water surface."

Off Estonia, Latvia
The captain was certain, he said, that his unarmed Catalina, was "very far off foreign coastal waters." He had been instructed, in searching for the lost transport plane, to keep 15 miles off the coast of Estonia and Latvia, both of which have been incorporated into the Soviet Union. The Russians claim 12 miles out as their own special territory.

Two years ago an unarmed U. S. navy Privateer aircraft was shot down in this same area with 10 men aboard. The Soviets then claimed that the craft was a B-29 bomber violating Russian territory over Latvia. Russia rejected American protests.

The two Swedish crewmen injured today were taken to Hangö town hospital for treatment. Extent of their injuries was not immediately known.

The name "Gypsy" is a corruption of "Egyptian," but there seems to be no evidence that the people had any special connection with Egypt.

Treasury Borrows Another 3½ Billion Dollars

Washington, June 16 (AP)—The government today sold an entire issue of 3½ billion dollars of six-year, 2½ percent bonds in a matter of hours. It could have sold more if it had wanted.

Subscription books, open only this morning, were declared "closed at the close of business" today by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

With banks eligible to purchase outright for the first time since the war, subscriptions quickly exceeded the total amount of bonds offered for cash purchase. Because of that, the issue will be rationed among subscribers.

The 2½ percent bonds will be marketable, which means they may be resold at any time. They will be dated July 1, will mature June 15, 1958. Sales were for straight cash, with no older bonds to be exchanged.

The 3½ billion dollar cash offering of bonds sold so quickly marks the start of the government's heaviest borrowing campaign since the war.

The reason is the government, facing huge bills for its rearming program, expects to run deep in the red in the fiscal year starting July 1. President Truman's estimates point to a budget deficit of over 14 billion dollars in that period.

AMERICANS NEED TO BE ALERT TO METHODS OF REDS IN U. S.

Enterprising groups interested in keeping America alert to danger might do the country a service by preparing a sort of five-foot shelf of books and other materials which expose how Communists really operate.

There has been an extraordinary growth in the last year or so in the documentary evidences of Communist activity. Fortunately a high proportion of it appears wholly reliable.

Some prime examples are Whittaker Chambers' autobiography, "Witness," Herbert Philbrick's story of his double life as Communist Party member and FBI agent, and the current series in the Saturday Evening Post on the espionage activities of Klaus Fuchs, German-born British atomic scientist who gave the Russians the atom bomb.

No catalog of first-rate materials in this field would be quite complete without a copy of the new American film, "Walt East on Beacon," which presents in an unadorned, straightforward manner not only Communist methods but FBI techniques in tracking down Red spies in an actual case.

If thinking Americans could take advantage of all these materials, they would be in a far better position to judge the nature and extent of the Communist threat within our borders.

They could be clear on one important fundamental which now is clouded in confusion. That is that the spy and the policy-influencer are seldom—if ever—the same. All the things which a man has to do to influence policy, openly advocating pro-Soviet views, sabotaging American attitudes, are calculated to arouse suspicion of him. The good spy is in the business of not arousing suspicion.

Klaus Fuchs is a perfect example. He was a Communist, with definite convictions. At first he kept the fact quiet in his adopted Britain because he saw it as a handicap to his developing career as a scientist. But once he began spying for Russia, he had a better reason.

Fuchs became almost a model for a scientist working on a secret wartime project. He not only did nothing to stir suspicion. He aligned himself—not too ostentatiously—with those who were "tough about security." He usually spoke against releasing classified information to the public.

This pose helped make him a perfect "sleeper"—a spy whose habits are so circumspect that he virtually never draws attention. A spy net functions best with a host of sleepers. Alger Hiss was one.

That's why character testimonials in the Hiss trial and similar proceedings are really beside the point. Of course the spy can produce men to attest to his character. He would not be a spy if he could not. If he went around arousing everybody's suspicion, spouting Soviet propaganda and the like, his usefulness to a potential enemy would be zero.

The policy-influencer has his role, too, but it is a distinct one. Those who see the two roles as interchangeable are simply ill-informed about Communist methods. They need to read the five-foot shelf of documentary materials. They do not know the enemy—or where he might be found.

GUATEMALA'S RED NEST

Communists in control of Guatemala, in Central America—next door to the Panama Canal—are putting into effect a program of nationalization that includes farm land. The land, under state control, will ostensibly be distributed to the peasants, but the Russian system of collective farms with peasants working for the government is the goal.

American banana magnates have already engaged in combat with the Guatemalan reds and have come off with feathers dropping. Now the sugar, coffee, cotton and other estates will be confiscated to the glorification of Marx, Lenin, Stalin and other big shots of the world slave movement.

At stake are free governments in the Western Hemisphere, as well as the Panama Canal. A Mexican national election is coming up in which the communies can show great strength, but there are some indications that they will not expose their hand this time.

This country's "good neighbors" down south will bear watching. A communized Latin America would be a major threat to the United States.

Chest Surveys Help Arrest TB
By Detecting It in Early Stage

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Hundreds of thousands, if not millions of people are now familiar with community chest surveys.

Sometimes, however, these surveys raise problems which are rather confusing.

One reader writes, for example: "A friend of mine from out of town visits me occasionally. During the chest survey conducted during 1949 she told me she received the following diagnosis from the health department: 'Accentuated markings in the fifth interspace of the right lung. Another examination is recommended in six months' time and sputum cups are enclosed."

"What is meant by this diagnosis? Is it the beginning of pulmonary consumption? Is there any danger of others contracting the disease from dishes, cutlery, bed linen, etc.?"

This statement by itself is incomplete, but suggests that the friend in question at some time in her life had tuberculosis. In the absence of cough or other symptoms, it is probable that she does not now have active tuberculosis, and that she is not a danger to others.

The report, however, correctly suggests that her health should be watched and that she should have another X-ray after a period of time to make sure that the tuberculosis is not becoming active.

To return to the general problem, it is known that the best line of attack on tuberculosis is to prevent the spread of the germ. Consequently, if people who are in an infectious stage of the disease can be picked out and treated so that they will not carry the germ to others, fewer new cases of the disease will develop.

Also, it is well known that treatment is more effective and much more rapid in its early stages. For both these reasons, the community chest surveys are worth while and are helping enormously.

SURVEY RESULTS GOOD
Probably Savannah, Ga., was one of the first large cities to try this method out on a large scale. During the autumn of 1945, nearly 75,000 residents of the county, which contained about 150,000 people, appeared voluntarily for chest X-rays. It was found that many residents had tuberculosis of the lungs without knowing it, and many of these were in the early stages.

It was thus possible to start treatment early, and infected persons could be temporarily separated from loved relatives or friends whom they might otherwise have infected. Since this time surveys have been conducted in many other places with equally desirable results.

Hollywood —(NEA)—On the Record: EVELYN KEYES, on her world-touring.

"I'm getting extremely proficient in foreign languages. I now know how to stop the wolves of the international set by saying 'No' in six different languages."

GREGORY PECK, scoffing at tales that he's disappointed at losing out on an Academy award:
"Awards or no awards, I'm very happy. One thing about an award—it's no guarantee that your next picture will be any good. You're as likely to make a dog the next time out. It's just my family that keeps feeling sorry for me because I haven't got an Oscar."

MARY PICKFORD, explaining her new photography hobby:
"I've always been before the camera. Now I'd like to be behind it and master it the way it's mastered me."

TERRY MOORE, on acting:
"I would like to live on a studio sound stage—and never go home—and just make one movie after another."

VITTORIO GASSMAN, on marriage:
"An American journalist asked me the other day who's the boss now that Shelley and I are married. All I can say is such a question would never occur to an Italian newspaperman."

MEN LOVE WITH EYES

Zsa Zsa Gabor, on love:
"Men love with their eyes. They love what they see. But women love with their ears. They love to hear what men say to them. That is why the ugliest, shortest, baldest man can make the most beautiful woman in the world fall in love with him."

ROGER KENDALL, movie producer, in answer to the "Would you hire Ingrid Bergman?" question:
"Would I? You produce her and I'll make pictures with her. I'll bend over backwards. So will exhibitors and the moviegoing public. What happened to Ingrid has been happening to women since the world began."

SUSAN HAYWARD, after a sparkling display of wrestling holds in a fight scene for "This Man Is Mine":
"Look, when you raise twin boys, you have to be pretty handy with your head locks and leg snatches."

BRODERICK CRAWFORD, on being a screen tough guy:
"It has its compensations and its problems. It must be wonderful to be able to walk into a bar without expecting that some character, trying to impress his girl friend, is going to invite you to step outside just to prove how tough he is."

MARTA TOREN, on reports she'll wed playwright Leonardo Bercovici:
"He's a very good friend and that's as far as it goes. I'm old fashioned. When I get married, I want to stay married."

TV CRAMPS STYLE

CHARLES LEMAIRE, Fox wardrobe director, on censorship of movie queen's gowns:
"Some of the things that they won't allow us to do on the screen are the very feminine things that make a woman different from a man. And what we can't do shows up on television. It's all wrong. The censors don't have the woman's angle. How could they? They're all men and they go by what they like or dislike personally. If there were two women and two men on a board to pass on screen costumes, we'd have a better deal for Hollywood."

JOAN FONTAINE, about her new movie, "Vanhoose":
"The horses were beautifully captured. It's a classical western in gorgeous color and it's going to be tremendously successful."

DIANA LYNN, on her screen blueprint:
"I want to do stage plays and television as well as movies. You last a lot longer that way. I think I learned more about acting in one year of TV than I did in 10 years as a motion picture actress in Hollywood."

ANTHONY CAPPS, movie dance director, about ballroom dancing:
"When a man and woman dance together it makes a happier marriage. Dancing is stimulating. It makes couples dance together. It makes them more aware of themselves."

MARY CASTLE, on past publicity about her resemblance to Rita Hayworth:
"I was very unhappy about it. Finally the studio stopped arranging interviews with the press. Newspaper people would ask me how it feels to look like Rita and I'd snap at them."

Columbia is searching for a musical comedy idea as Judy Holliday's next after "The Marrying Kind." Judy hasn't used her pipes and stunts since she was a member of a night club act, "The Revuers," a decade ago.

LITTLE LIZ

And there is another thing to her credit. If, on her own, she can make friends she enjoys being with, she can do something besides sit around feeling lonely and sorry for herself. She is not a burden to her children.

It's the older woman who refuses to do anything, who tries to live entirely through her children, who makes her children feel somehow responsible for her lonely life, who is a burden.

The older woman with enough get-up-and-go to work out a scheme of living that is pleasant deserves respect, not condemnation.

Any way she spends her time is all right, so long as she gets pleasure from her activities.

Enjoying time is NOT wasting time. Wasting time is sitting around being lonely and miserable.

Anything an older woman can do to get some enjoyment into her days is all to the good, and she owes no one an apology for how she spends her time.

Most men don't like long engagements—they can't afford them.

The MATURE PARENT

Neighbors Can Get Together
To End Baby-Sitting Problem

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

I've just heard of an idea I want to pass along to anyone who can make use of it.

I was told about it by an enterprising and thoughtful young mother who recently moved from her home in the country to an apartment in a big city housing development.

One day she suddenly realized how long it had been since she and her husband had been out together. However, when she investigated the charges of baby-sitters, both amateur and professional, she was discouraged. But her fourth wedding anniversary was coming up and by careful budgeting she managed to save the price of a sitter as well as funds for a restaurant dinner and the theatre.

On the Big Evening, ten minutes before she and her husband were to join their friends at the restaurant, the telephone rang. It was their 16-year-old sitter calling to announce that she'd just been offered a date she couldn't pass up.

By 10 o'clock the next night the young mother had her Babysitters Cooperative organized. Its membership consisted of four mothers like herself—neighbors who lived on her floor who were also harassed by baby-sitting problems in a city where relatives were not available and fees for service range from 75 cents to a dollar an hour. To join the Cooperative, each member pledged herself to donate one evening a week to one of her fellow members in exchange for one of theirs.

So successful was the original group that its members now number 35 mothers. Each contributes a week of service as secretary to the pool, taking pledges of donated evenings, and orders from those who want one. "If my husband and I, for example, want to see a certain movie on Thursday night," a member told me, "I just call the girl who's acting as the week's secretary and ask if someone needs me on a Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday evening. Usually, there's a call and the neighbor I serve stays with my kids on Thursday night. We have to ration Friday and Saturday nights, of course, but we rotate them so nobody gets left out."

Husbands who first balked at losing wives' companionship on their baby-sitting assignments soon came around, I was told. They soon saw the point—saving not only the fee but also the chore of escorting teenage sitters home.

If no Babysitters Cooperative is organized on your street, why not set about getting one going?

Quite apart from the financial advantages, it seems to me they offer a fine solution to a pretty worrisome problem. We don't really get much fun out of our evening on the town if we're left the youngster at home with a stranger or an inexperienced girl. But to leave him in the care of another mother who knows him and whose children we know is something else again.

"We can look at our movie and enjoy it instead of fretting about what Billy might do if he wakes up and finds a stranger in his living room. To earn our own evening's freedom from anxiety by giving one to a neighbor strikes me as a most self-respecting way to achieve it."

When I mentioned this to teacher Adele Franklin, author of that helpful book, "Your Best Friends Are Your Children," she put her finger on the real merit of the Babysitters Cooperative idea.

"It's training in neighborliness for the children," she said. "It seems to me a kind of resurrection of the grand old tradition of personal service to neighbors... the kind of example of human interdependence we people of the 20th century have gotten too far away from."

Boyle's Column

THE POOR MAN'S PHILOSOPHER
ON LIVING TO BE 100

By Hal Boyle

New York, June 16.—(AP)—Do you want to live to be 100 years old? There are more people trying to reach this goal every year, and the best way to start is to be born a girl.

Just as women can hold on to a dollar better than men, they now hold on longer to life. Lady centenarians outnumber gentlemen centenarians by a wide, wide margin. You can't beat the feminine passion for property, even in the matter of piling up years. They won't let go of a good thing.

How can men live longer? That is very easy. Take a tip from the girls, fellow. Live like they do. Take it easy.

Dr. Morris Fishbein gave the key to longer life the other day: "Imperturbability." That is a seven-syllable word meaning "calm down—don't get excited."

Women instinctively and by preference lead quieter lives than men. They conserve their energy better. Nothing really excites a woman except—well, except, possibly a man. And as soon as she gets him she opens his shirt collar? Never mind what the usher says. Did he pay his way into the theater?

One of the greatest drains on a husband's energy is reaching for a pocketbook to pay his wife's bills. The next time there's a bill to pay make her reach for your pocketbook.

Of course you can live to be 100. All you have to do is learn to beat women at their own game.

There is no reason why a man can't follow this example in office or factory. If a crisis comes up, my boy, don't blow your top. Simply lie down on the floor and rest while you think it over. The boss may stare at you the first time or two. But after you explain the reason to him—that you are only trying to live longer—he will tell you to move over so he can lie down and live longer, too.

Wives are proverbially late getting dressed for an evening out. But it is only because they know that hurry is killing.

But what does the waiting husband do? He loses his temper, he starts ranting.

"You're always late. You never are on time. You—"

Up, up, up goes his blood pressure. Down, down down goes his life expectancy.

Women are wonderfully adept at avoiding pressures and strains. A wife man will imitate them. A girl at the movies will remove her shoes if they pinch her feet. Why shouldn't a fellow interested in his own longevity take off his shoes, and also unbuckle his belt, unbuckle his vest, take off his necktie and open his shirt collar? Never mind what the usher says. Did he pay his way into the theater?

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

Eisenhower Listens to Advice,
But Expresses His Own Ideas

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

New York—(NEA)—An Eisenhower assistant went to the general's Columbia University residence one Sunday morning to confer about Eisenhower's Detroit speech. He found the Republican presidential candidate in a dressing gown.

He was seated in a comfortable chair with a big yellow toilet on his knee, writing with pencil in longhand some of the things he wanted to say.

This Detroit speech had been plugged as Candidate Eisenhower's major policy declaration on labor-management relations. The general has already made several references to his views on the steel industry seizure and the Taft-Hartley law in his Abilene and New York press conferences. But the Detroit speech was intended to present his own ideas on the subject in detail and in full.

The point stressed by this Sunday morning incident is that the words now coming out of Mr. Eisenhower's mouth express his own thoughts and opinions.

General Eisenhower came back from Paris with the draft of his Abilene speech already prepared. It was not ghost-written for him. A number of his advisers got a look at the draft and made suggestions. But on the plane ride from Washington to Kansas City, the general laboriously went over his text again, and so wrote out the final draft, the way he delivered it.

To anyone who thought the Abilene speech wasn't a very good one, this may be an explanation.

No Aides Behind Him in Press Conferences

In the general's press conference appearances, however, he has been strictly on his own. There have been no aides or advisers standing behind him, whispering in his ear and telling him what to say.

To the delight of the press and to the amazement of many others, Candidate Eisenhower has proved that he is literate that he has ideas of his own and that he can express them.

The Eisenhower publicity staff, headed by Robert R. Mullen, former Christian Science Monitor correspondent and more recently head of Marshall Plan public relations, is not sure that the general will be able to keep up this pace of writing his own speeches.

If he wins the nomination and goes into an all-out, cross-country barnstorming campaign where five or six speeches a day are called for, there will have to be some ghost-written first drafts, re-expressing the general's ideas.

That will give The Man himself more time to chuck voters under the chin and buttonhole babies, or whatever it is candidates are supposed to do.

Like President Truman, General Eisenhower is now considered at his best when he is talking off the cuff. He has not yet shown that he is a gifted reader of prepared speeches as President Roosevelt was.

In his press conference statements, General Eisenhower's skill at this give-and-take business is cited as proof that he has done his homework.

He Had Time To Plan His Line Of Attack

Before he left Paris, he was given a complete list of questions that might be asked. They were compiled with the help of a group of Washington correspondents. So the general knew what to expect and was prepared to meet the attack.

General Eisenhower's return to the U. S. has made some change in his political headquarters' organization.

Corralling delegates was the work of the Washington headquarters under Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas. Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. of Massachusetts, as general campaign manager, was liaison man between New York, Washington and Paris.

A new personal staff has now been built up around the general. It is headed by Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., son of the late Michigan senator and formerly his father's administrative assistant in Washington. The general's appointments are being handled by Tom Stephens, a young New York lawyer active in the Dewey organization.

Close around the Eisenhower throne are principal advisers, are Senators Lodge, Carlson, Duff of Pennsylvania, ex-Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas, Governor Dewey, Herbert Brownell, Paul Hoffman and Walter Williams.

The role that Ike's brother Milton Eisenhower will play has not been determined. He accompanied the general to Abilene, then returned to Penn State College, of which he is president. As a former Department of Agriculture and Office of War Information official he would fit into the brain trust naturally.

I. C. Speaker Opposes U. S. Intervention In Bargaining Disputes

Adequate representation of the public interest by labor and management depends far more upon the behavior of both groups than it does upon the purity and wisdom of any statement or profession of principles, James F. Oates, Jr., chairman of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company of Chicago said Sunday. He spoke at the commencement of the 123rd year of Illinois College, first college in the state to graduate a class.

As an example of behavior, Oates said that "management should not establish increased prices at unreasonable and unjustifiable levels simply because demand is great and supply short. Likewise labor cannot justify yearly round after round of wage increases which can only result in increased prices."

"The difficulty is that unsound behavior in these respects brings government regulation which, if permanent is a gigantic step to nationalization and government ownership, operation and control. There are neither labor unions nor private boards of directors behind the Iron Curtain."

In delivering his annual report on the progress of the college during the past year, President H. Gary Hudson commented that "personalities are strong in a small college." He said hundreds of alumni and friends had contributed gifts ranging from a few dollars to $2,500 to raise the amount received in the institution's current campaign to $104,000.

Men's Dormitory
The contemplated men's dormitory, which will be constructed to a large extent from funds gathered during the current drive, will house 100 students. It will be begun when materials, many of them in short supply for civilian use during the national emergency, are obtained. Dr. Hudson said the building should be completed in 1954. It will be built next to the new Memorial gymnasium, whose finishing touches were financed by money from the present drive.

Dr. Hudson voiced high praise for Dr. Harold Gibson, class of 1930, who heads the Illinois College Forward Movement. "He deserves well of his college," the president asserted. Dr. Hudson concluded that the years of small enrollments for the nation's colleges are drawing to a close. The so-called small "depression generation," now in college, soon will be replaced with the swelling generations of later years. The president also noted that military service has drawn many potential and actual students from college halls.

He concluded that Illinois College "is a Christian college. It cherishes and fosters the ideals of freedom, self-reliance and individual initiative."

Honorary Degrees
Honorary degrees were conferred upon speaker Oates and three other men distinguished in various fields of American life. Oates received a Doctor of Laws degree. Ralph Cooke, class of 1902 at Illinois College, also was granted the degree of Doctor of Laws for what was termed "selfless devotion to Christian service" in his management of Chicago's YMCA hotel.

Dr. Samuel Selden of the University of North Carolina department of dramatics and supervising director of the historical drama "Forever This Land," received a Doctor of Letters degree. His work was cited as one fostering "an informed patriotism."

Rev. Elfan Rees, Geneva, Switzerland, and graduate of Oxford University, was granted the degree of Doctor of Divinity for his work as Congregational pastor and for his notable career since the Second World War aiding displaced persons and refugees. His career was termed as "outstanding for its humanitarianism, statesmanship and scholarship."

RECIPIENTS OF HONORARY DEGREES

The commencement speaker, Oates, deprecated the tendency of government to intervene in labor disputes. The long term public interest, he said, can best be served if the parties themselves will solve their own differences.

The speaker admitted that in the past both labor and management at times had failed adequately to represent the public interest and as a consequence a number of regulatory laws, such as the Sherman Anti-Trust act, the Interstate Commerce act, the National Labor Relations act and others had been passed to correct the deficiencies.

Ideal of Public Service
But he maintained that the ideal of public service in management circles is growing. Business success depends upon profits, adequate tools and plant, a reliable organization and public confidence. He asserted that because of these four considerations, "as a matter of hard-sealed self-interest management must represent the public."

"But deeper than self-interest," Oates concluded, "is the growing consciousness of management that business philosophy to be sound must be predicated upon service to the people."

Public Library News Notes

"We have a warrant for your arrest," they told Vivian Hallinan's new husband as the couple started on their honeymoon. This was the startling beginning of her life with a lawyer husband who "drank excitement as others drank whiskey." Life became even more unpredictable with the coming of their sons who now number six, from 18 year old Butch to four year old Dangerous Danny. "My Wild Irish Rogues" recounts the lively experiences of this family.

This and other unusual life stories at the Jacksonville Public Library provide diverting reading for hot weather.

"Pistol Pete" was a nickname Frank Eaton earned by his shooting prowess when he was only 15 years old. Eaton was a part of the Old West as cowboy, scout, Indian fighter and deputy sheriff.

John Edward Stephenson's weak right arm dropped from the telegraph key, useless from overwork, and on his enforced vacation he went into the interior of Africa. There he stayed and became "Chiripula," the muscular invader of unknown African lands. His adventures are recounted by Kathleen Rukavina in "Jungle Pathfinder."

In "Elizabeth the Queen," Marion Crawford ("Crawfie," the friend and guide of the Royal family) picks up her story of Britain's new sovereign where she left off in "The Little Princess." She gives the same chat, intimate account of Elizabeth as a mother as she did of Elizabeth as a child.

Phil Cochran, the daredevil pilot who was the inspiration for Flip Corkin of "Terry and the Pirates," and other heroes including General Wingate, have incredible but true adventures as they break the Axis stronghold in Asia. Lowell Thomas relates their experiences in his usual vivid style in "Back to Mandalay."

Salvation Army Drive Extended Into Homes

The final phase of the Salvation Army $100,000 new building campaign gets underway Tuesday afternoon when the Residential Division kicks off at the Y. M. C. A., 423 West State street at 2 p.m. Miss Grace Fitch, chairman of the Residential Division will head the largest organization in the campaign. There are five districts, one for each ward and one for South Jacksonville. Each district is headed by a major who will oversee fifteen teams in their district, each headed by a captain with five workers. The division majors are Mrs. Wendell Dysinger, Ward 1; Mrs. W. O. Randall, Ward 2; Miss Clara Cobb, Ward 3; Mrs. Mary M. Jameson, Ward 4; and Mrs. Dean Strand, South Jacksonville. The Residential Division will contact all residents and also the smaller business firms in these areas. The solicitation will be limited to one week and the final report for this division will be held Tuesday, June 24 at 7 p.m. at the YMCA. "In limiting the solicitation to one week," Miss Fitch said, "it is hoped to spare the workers the burden of a long-drawn-out effort. Since this is a short period in which to conduct the residence solicitation we hope that all individuals will have made up their minds, about how much they are going to give prior to the workers calling and in this way reduce the number of call-backs that the worker will have to make. "We realize that many of the men of the household will have already given at their place of business, but since this is a 'once in a lifetime' drive and will not occur again for many years, it will be a wonderful thing if each one of the housewives will plan to give something out of her own household budget over and above that which her husband has already given. "Since this is a pledge campaign and donors have 3 years in which to pay, I'm sure that every one will do their utmost to give generously to the Salvation Army that has served our community unselfishly for the past 68 years without ever asking for funds with which to build." The first report meeting of all workers in the campaign will be held Thursday, June 19 at 7 p.m. in the Y. M. C. A. All workers, captains, and majors are requested to turn in their reports at this meeting.

Heat Wave Continues Unabated; 98 To 102 In This Area Sunday

The June heat wave which has blow-torched the Jacksonville area and the entire midwest for several days continued Monday after setting a season record Sunday. A temperature reading of 98 degrees was taken Sunday at the Norbury Sanatorium weather station, while a 102 temperature was recorded at the WLDS transmitter, east of the city. The 102 degrees was recorded at 5 p.m. at the transmitter. Thousands sought relief from the heat Sunday at Nichols Park, the Lake Jacksonville area, and other recreational spots. The swimming pool at the park was crowded during the entire day and evening. Brilliant sunshine Monday morning gave notice that another day of unseasonable weather could be expected.

Morgan county has sweltered through many heat waves, some of which were recorded by local historians. Mrs. Sara John English called attention of the Journal Courier to a paragraph in Eames Historic Morgan which stated that on July 15, 1869, the thermometer rose to 135 degrees. Government recordings of temperature did not begin until many years after that date. The hottest weather in Jacksonville in this century was recorded in 1936, when for 11 consecutive days the temperature was 100 or higher. One reading of 111 degrees was recorded that summer. New Record at St. Louis. The St. Louis weather bureau reported Monday that for the eleventh straight day Sunday the mercury was 90 or more, making this the hottest first half of June in the St. Louis weather bureau history. Lack of rain also figured in the picture—only .73 of an inch has fallen at St. Louis since the month started compared with a normal 1.63 in the first 15 days of June. The previous high for June 15 was 96.5 degrees in 1868.

In the summer of 1941 he was inducted into military service, where he rose from private first class to the rank of captain. He was returned to civilian life in 1945 and in 1946 accepted a position at the Elliott Bank. In 1950 Duerwer once more was called up for military duty with the Air Force. He was the auditor at the bank at the time. He spent 17 months at Greenville, S. C., as procurement officer. Duerwer is married and the father of two children, Laurette and Terry.

Chicago, June 16—(P)—Betsy Rawls, relaxed sophomore pro with the midas touch, was on the money march again today with a medal-winning 74—one under par—to take the qualifying round of the 23rd Women's Western Open golf tournament.

The 22-year-old Austin, Tex., lass, already at the head of the 1952 pro class with $9,450, posted the only sub-par round over windswept Smoke Country Club for a two-stroke margin in the battle for 32 berths in tomorrow's match play inaugural round.

Knotted at 76 were defending champion Patty Berg, seeking an unprecedented fifth crown, and Louise Suggs, both pros.

A starting field of 125 matched strokes over Smokies' par 37-35-75. The high caliber test will pay a professional winner $1,000 and a pro runner-up $500.

Ken Litchfield Wins Golf Crown At Country Club

Kenny Litchfield won the class "A" golf sweepstakes at the Jacksonville country club Sunday. The little left hander fired a 70-7-63.

H. W. Keedy was the class "B" winner with a 77-12-65. Yorker Smith won the "C" class with an 87-21-66.

FAN BREEZES

BY BOB MERRIS

Most first-round matches have been completed in the championship flight of the Nichols Park Open golf tournament. Wood Phillips announced last night. Probably the tightest match of the flight was completed when Tom Kirkham fired a sparkling 65 to edge out left-hander Ken Litchfield's 67. Kirkham, former Illinois college golfer, won the match two up.

City champion Vince Maloney was ousted from competition by Charles Black. Gary Birdson, a local high school golfer, whipped Forrest Devore five and four in first round action. Defending champ Floyd Craft beat Norbert Ellering and Clarence Worrall bumped Bill Doyle five and four.

First round matches to be completed are Homer Mitchell-Bas Sorrells; Jim Buckley-Chick Reynolds; Spike Wilson and O. E. Goodrich.

After Kirkham, Black has been the most effective golfer in the tournament. "Skip" fired a 32 on the last nine against Maloney. He carded 3's on six of the holes.

Buck Knowles has entered his Macomb Moose nine in the Invitational softball tournament which gets underway at Nichols Park this Sunday night. The Macomb nine swells the entry list to 14. There's still room for two more clubs to enter. Deadline is midnight tonight.

The Nichols Park swimming pool was a seething mass of humanity all day Sunday. Over 2,000 swimmers took advantage of the public park facilities in seeking relief from the blazing sun. We used our rusty mathematics to figure this one: If all those 2,000 swimmers had entered the 80 by 40 yard pool (approximate figures), each person would have a little over two square inches of space in which to cavort.

Of course this is impossible. Safety factors would not permit the 2,000 to enter the pool area at one time. But we'll bet that 700 were getting wet when we checked at about 6:30 p.m.

Congratulations are due the Jacksonville DeMolay softball team. The local lads won the Macomb Sectional tournament Sunday and will now advance to the state finals. Much of the credit is due their strong-armed pitcher Earle Lair, who tossed all three of Sunday's contests.

A couple of announcements: The Jacksonville American Legion baseball team will practice on the north-side diamond Wednesday, 6 p.m. The Hilltoppers softball team will meet at the Drexel at 6:45 p.m. today from where they'll embark for Manchester and a ball game.

The action in changing the by-laws was for this year only and is subject to action by the PGA membership at its annual convention next winter. If the change is approved then, the open champion will be invited each year if he is not already a PGA member.

Bobby Thomson's Grand Slam Homer Wins For Giants

New York, June 16—(P)—Minute man Bobby Thomson came through in the clutch again today, slamming a grand slam home run in the ninth inning to give the New York Giants a dramatic 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Thomson, hitless in 17 previous times at bat, slammed rookie relief pitcher Willard Schmidt's first pitch over the left field roof just inside the foul line to clear the bases. The eleventh hour victory moved the Giants to within three games of Brooklyn's idle pace-setting Dodgers, and they owed it all to Thomson, just as they did when he smashed his historic homer to win the final 1951 playoff game against the Dodgers.

Tron, Scotland, June 16—(P)—Dot Kirby, U.S. champion, and five other Americans failed to survive the first two rounds of the British Women's Amateur Golf championships tournament today as the field of 10 American entrants withered to four.

Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., Claire Doran of Cleveland and Polly Rife and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Ft. Worth, Tex., where the only U.S. women left in the play over the 6,500 yard seaside course.

Miss Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., was eliminated in the first round by Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., 3 and 2, but the New England girl joined her on the sidelines after a second round loss, 4 and 2, to Philomena Garvey of Ireland.

The British girls, who won their first Curtis cup victory over the U.S. nine days ago, were out to prove it was no mistake. All the American Curtis cup players, except Miss Kirby, sailed through the first round but four lost their second round matches.

Miss Murray had little trouble in eliminating her to English foes. After trouncing Mrs. Zara Bolton, 3 and 2 in the morning, she came back from lunch to rout Mrs. A. C. Allen, 6 and 4.

Miss Doran had to come from behind in the afternoon after trouncing Jean McCullough of Scotland, 6 and 5 in the first round. Trailing most of the way in her match with Jean Donald of Scotland, she won the 17th and halved the 18th to win, 1 up.

Athletics Hire Bobo Newsom

Philadelphia, June 16—(P)—One of the most-traveled men in baseball, Louis (Bobo) Newsom is back in the major leagues today—this time with the Philadelphia Athletics.

General Manager Arthur Enlers of the A's said the 43-year-old Bobo, who started the year with the Washington Senators, will join the A's in Chicago Tuesday.

Bobo had a 1-1 record with the Senators before Owner Clark Griffith decided Newsom had overstayed his 1952 visit. He was released and went home to Alabama.

Newsom broke into the big time in 1929 and has played with every American league team except Cleveland and the Chicago White Sox.

Local DeMolay 9 Wins Macomb Sectional Crown

Macomb—(Special)—Earle Lair pitched the Jacksonville DeMolay softball team to three victories and the Macomb Sectional championship here Sunday afternoon.

With Lair on the mound practically all day, the Jacksonville club whipped Taylorville 10-5, Springfield 4-3 and Roodhouse 25-4 for the title.

The Jacksonville lads will advance to the DeMolay State tournament. Site and date for this big meet is to be announced.

Detroit Scribe Takes The Heat Off Red Rolfe

Detroit, June 16—(P)—Sports Editor H. G. Salsinger of the Detroit News declared today that Manager Red Rolfe could not be blamed for the performance of the Detroit Tigers, American League cellar dwellers.

Salsinger's comments came in his daily column at a time when many fans were increasingly persistent in demands that Rolfe be replaced.

The veteran sports editor, long Carls, cf 4 2 1 has been acknowledged as one of the persons closest to Tiger affairs.

"Rolfe cannot be blamed for what the players have failed to do," Salsinger wrote. "Perhaps he could have last year, but not this year."

"He has been patient and hopeful with a collapsing ball club, tolerant and considerate."

Salsinger said the Tiger players "thoroughly disliked" Manager Red Rolfe last year but that "the same is not true this year."

Salsinger said that since the start of this season Rolfe has been a "changed man" and his handling of players has been "just the reverse" of a year ago.

Salsinger said it is "not likely" that Detroit could have done any better in the first two months of this season "under any other manager."

"There is no reason to believe the players have not played as well as they could," he said.

Salsinger asserted that "Rolfe cannot be blamed for what the players have failed to do."

Tommy Holmes Signs To Play With Dodgers

Brooklyn, June 16—(P)—Tommy Holmes, despoised manager of the Boston Braves, was all smiles today as he officially became a Brooklyn Dodger.

Holmes signed as a pinch-hitter and utility outfielder with the National League leaders for the balance of the season, although it was reported the 34-year-old Brooklyn native and the Dodgers also have reached a player's agreement for 1953.

"I think I've got a few years left as a player," Holmes said after he had worked out today for a full hour in Ebbetts Field. "I feel too good at 34 and 185 pounds to manage in the minors. I figure I can play now and worry about managing when I get to be around 40."

Holmes, who compiled a 303 lifetime batting average during nine full campaigns with the Braves, was replaced as Braves' manager by Charley Grimm on May 31 after his team had lost a doubleheader in Ebbetts Field for their seventh and eighth setbacks at the hands of Brooklyn.

The Braves' officials gave Holmes "inexperience" as the reason for Holmes' firing.

Despite this, President Lou Perini of the Braves sought to have Holmes remain in the organization. He again offered the one-time right field favorite of Braves field the manager's job at Hartford. Holmes managed the Hartford Chiefs in the class A Eastern league for 50 games at the start of 1951 and was called up by the Braves when Billy Southworth quit last June 20.

George S. May Pays Fine For Contempt Of Court

Chicago, June 16—(P)—George S. May, 62, golf tournament promoter and business building specialist, today paid a $1,000 contempt of court fine growing out of a gambling investigation.

An attorney representing May, owner of the Tam O'Shanter Country club, Edward Rezek and Matt Niesen, both officials of the club, paid a total of $2,126.75 in fines for the three.

They were convicted of refusing to answer certain questions in a grand jury investigation of gambling. State's attorney's police seized 27 slot machines in a raid on the country club July 4, 1950.

May appealed his case to the Illinois Supreme court, which upheld the criminal court ruling.

ITS ENGINE ADDS MUSCLE TO EVERY DROP OF GAS!

To many owners, the mighty 180 H.P. V-8 engine that powers the Chrysler New Yorker is the most remarkable feature of this remarkable car. It is certainly the most discussed automobile engine in many, many years.

This is the engine with hemispherical combustion chambers... the engine that gets more power out of every drop of gas. And non-premium gas at that!

Actually, it puts you in control of more power than you'll probably ever need use. You'll sense this... together with its unequalled response... the very first yards you drive. It runs smoother, more quietly, and with less wear than any other engine ever built into an American automobile.

...and it makes driving (both cruising and the short runs) more fun than you have ever known it to be!

But that's not all. Along with this engine there are scores of other reasons, too, for driving a New Yorker before resolving on any new car. Like Full-time Power Steering that makes steering five times easier... and your control five times greater... than in ordinary cars. Like Power Brakes that cut needed pedal pressure by as much as two-thirds.

Like Oriflow shock absorbers that make even bad roads feel "newly paved"... restful chair-high seats... big, wide-opening doors... big windows that let you see more.

It's true... until you drive a Chrysler New Yorker you won't know what you're missing. Why not stop in today?

WHEAT PRICES DROP ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO (P)—The weight of an enormous winter wheat crop dumped wheat prices into new low ground for the current season on the Board of Trade today.

Actually, losses weren't very large, but only fractional declines were necessary to send quotations to the lowest points yet reached. The market met quite a bit of hedging pressure as cash wheat receipts in the southwest were large.

Other cereals did not do much. At times rye, soybeans and corn showed some strength. A little export house buying developed in corn as 400,000 bushels of the grain were sold to Holland. However, these cereals had difficulty late in the session in holding onto the early advance.

Preliminary estimated receipts of grain in carlots: Wheat 4, corn 245, oats 9, rye 6, barley 6, soybeans 58.

Wheat closed 1-11 lower, July 12.30-1, corn unchanged to 1-11 lower, July 11.83-1.83, oats 1-11 lower, July 78-1, rye 1-11 higher, July 82-1, soybeans 1 cent lower to 1 higher, July 32-2, and lard 10 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, July 11-15.

Death in the Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

THE STORY: Rosemary Curtis had murder instead of vacation relaxation in the Sierras. Mrs. Ordell, wife of a college professor, has been stabbed, then her body mysteriously disappears. In talking to Professor Ordell, Rosemary learns that on the ridge just above the vacation resort a life hidden some money left behind by immigrants. So far it has never been unearthed.

murder in which the corpse was missing.
 After the officers returned, not even having found the Professor or Dr. Ordell, I told my story of Mrs. Ordell's disappearance.

WHEN they returned the officers wrote endlessly in little note-books, asked unceasing and apparently futile questions and noted all answers in writing.

Their questions came to no point. Oddly enough, and as if by a pre-arranged plan, no one mentioned the story of the buried treasure, of Elsie Martinson, or that apparently all the persons at Gold Lake were there for a single purpose.

There was, indeed, a mystery within a mystery. And I, it seemed, must either stay and play a dangerous and ungracious part in the story or take my life in my hands by driving a skidding car over impassable roads perhaps into the dark lake that lay below the cliffs.

Professor Ordell returned after a half-hour and announced that he followed the echoes of footsteps to the lake but had caught no one.

I slipped into my coat and gloves and, approaching the sheriff, I said, "I have decided that I would like to leave, Sheriff. I shall go on to Tahoe."

The sheriff grinned as he continued to pick his teeth carelessly with a splinter of wood. "Well, Sir, nobody's leavin' here. Least of all, you. Why, it's you that we want mostly."

Most everyone slept a little as the night wore on.

About dawn the sheriff awakened and went to the kitchen with Rhumba, Dick, Bob, and Jeff to prepare breakfast.

Sergeant Duncan left his post at the door and went outside to stand by the window that had been shattered by the bullet. I followed him. He looked for tracks or evidence but the beating rain had melted the large, broad tracks we had seen yesterday. The faint light of the new day served to give me back my lost courage.

So as boldly as possible I looked into Sergeant Duncan's Irish blue eyes and said, "Sergeant, is it true that there was a murder down the mountain at Horseshoe Springs?"

"There was."
 I told him how I knew of it and of the bullet hole in my fender. He asked to see the latter.

TOGETHER he and I, with Sue following, walked across the meadow to the barn. The James car was there as were the several other motors of the others at the lodge. The horses that the officers and the sheriff had ridden were in their stalls, comfortably nibbling hay. A fourth horse was mud-splashed, and showed every sign of having been hard-ridden. I saw that Duncan looked at him closely and measured the length of the stirrup strap of a saddle on the floor.

But my car was gone!
 "You wouldn't kid me, would you?" Duncan inquired a bit sarcastically as he watched me closely in the unmerciful light of the new day.

"No, I wouldn't. The fact is, I was let in for something when I came to this horrible place. I want to get out!"

Because it had been such a bad night and because I seemed hedged about with damaging evidence of which I was innocent and knew nothing, I burst into hysterical weeping. And in between the sobs that relieved my nerves and racked my body, I told Sergeant Duncan the story of the treasure.

He listened quietly and gave me his very clean handkerchief with which to mop up my hysterics.

When I again had myself in hand, he said to me in a matter-of-fact tone as he watched me closely to see the effect of his words, "Sure you didn't murder your own sister?"

"I gaped. 'I have no sister!'"
 "No? You used to have before she died of a bullet hole through her head. She had your same red hair and blue eyes."

Gas Line To Power Plant Will Be Built; Supply Now Assured

A decision of the Federal Power Commission authorizing the Texas Panhandle company to provide gas for fuel at the municipal power plant has renewed plans for a 4,000 foot connecting line between the gas main and the plant on East Morton avenue. The city council last night voted to resume plans for converting the plant to dual fuel operation, and to instruct the contractor to proceed with laying the line which will pipe gas into the plant.

Tells Exchangites About Treatment Of 800 Veterans

The veterans unit of the Jacksonville State Hospital was the subject of a talk heard by the Exchange club Monday evening at the Dunlap hotel. The guest speaker was George Vasconcellos, director of veterans service.

His work concerns the 800 ex-servicemen in that separate hospital within a hospital, he told the club. There are 398 there who took part in World War I, 254 who served in World War II, 14 who saw service in the Spanish-American War, nine who were members of Allied armed forces and were in Illinois at the time of their mental illness. The veterans of Korean battles are counted among 122 peacetime casualties.

Illinois is far advanced in care and facilities at veterans hospitals, he stated. He spoke of the help given the patients and the methods by which they are led to help themselves. After they receive physical examinations at the Diagnostic building of the main hospital and mental exams from psychologists or psychiatrists at the Diagnostic building in the veterans unit, they are assigned to wards for treatment.

They take part in occupational therapy, in farm work, lawn mowing, kitchen chores, store duties. They learn crafts and trades. Each year a mile and a half of carpeting is woven by one of the art classes, Vasconcellos said.

He mentioned the great improvement in veterans care since the end of World War I, when a Legion commander found mentally ill veterans chained to posts in a St. Louis building. This case provided an impetus for the development of well equipped hospitals.

The speaker was introduced by Glenn Spencer, program chairman for the evening.

There were 41 Exchangites present. Each received one or more duplicates of Soap Bob Derby registration cards. They will call on the entrants this week to see how the boys are progressing with their cars.

Miss Vera Cook, Keith L. Webster Married Monday

Miss Vera Marie Cook became the bride of Keith L. Webster in a quiet wedding at Palmyra, Mo., Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Both are employed in this city, the bride at the Illinois School for the Blind and the bridegroom at the Jacksonville State Hospital.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Methodist pastor, Rev. C. S. Peacock, at the parsonage. Attending the couple was Robert Deason.

The bride wore an aqua dress, fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirt. The wing collar was fastened at each side with a crystalline button. In the aqua were tiny gold stripes. Her attire was accented by a corsage of red roses. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. A navy hat with a short veil and accessories completed her costume.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cook of Dongola were the parents of the bride. She attended Dongola schools. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Addie Webster and the late L. E. Webster of Versailles, where he attended school.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster are planning to leave Wednesday for a wedding trip into southern Illinois and possibly a visit to Tennessee. They will make their home at Concord.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 3 CALLS

The fire department answered three alarms Monday afternoon.

At 12:07 p.m. they were called to the Leake Machine shop on E. Douglas avenue, when sparks evidently ignited a far paper roof. A booster line extinguished the blaze and the damage was small.

At 5:30 p.m. a waste paper bin caught fire at the rear of the Montgomery Ward store. A booster line doused the blaze.

At 9:20 p.m. the department was called to Passavant hospital, when the insulation was burned off a wire in the parking lot area.

GRADUATION DAY FOR OUR SAVIOUR'S NURSES

Nine graduates of Our Saviour's hospital School of Nursing received their diplomas Sunday evening in ceremonies held at the church. The Most Rev. William A. O'Connor, bishop of the Springfield diocese, presided. The junior students of the school formed a guard of honor as the nine graduates filed into the church. Receiving diplomas were Helen Margaret Franklin, Marianne Lawless, Patricia Yvonne LaFollette, Nellie Lucille Mauch, Rita Agnes Neilsen, Barbara Ellen Newingham, Theresa May Raines, Dorothy Ellen Richey and Harry Lee Wright.

Sees Car In Ditch, Stops On Highway; Collision Follows

A three-car collision on Route 36 five miles west of the city Monday evening was indirectly caused by a '48 Plymouth sitting in a ditch. It wasn't hit.

Only one minor injury resulted. Dave Corbin of Kalamazoo, Mich., was the driver of the Plymouth that swerved off the highway at 9:30 p.m.

Along came the R. D. McCloud family of Washington, D. C., in another Plymouth, a '41 model. Mr. McCloud, his wife, Ruby, and their three small children, Grace, James and Linda, were headed west. They stopped on the road to see whether any occupants of the ditched car were hurt.

Edwin Graybael of Winchester, also driving west in a '41 Chevrolet, attempted to pass the car that had stopped. His auto struck the McCloud car and a truck coming from the opposite direction, a '50 half-ton Ford pickup.

Park Lacey of Pittsfield was at the wheel of the truck.

Deputies John Reeve and Mose Wicks arrived on the scene shortly after a call was received at the sheriff's office concerning the car in the ditch. Instead of one car they found four. The one in the ditch was all right.

The lone injury was received by Marlene Marshall of Winchester, a passenger in Graybael's car. The small bump on her head didn't require medical attention.

Scott Federation Of Women's Clubs Meets At Bluffs

During the business session a vice president and treasurer were elected and installed by Mrs. Paul Vannier. Appropriate contests were held and the bride-elect was given balloons containing instructions about where her gifts were to be found.

Illinois College Alumni Hear William Clark

William Clark, class of 1940 and assistant financial editor of the Chicago Tribune, was the principal speaker at the Illinois College alumni luncheon in Baxley hall Sunday noon. He gave a brief speech on the subject of profits, "monetary and otherwise."

Clark reminded the large number of alumni present of "your immediate, accruing and ultimate profits which became yours upon your graduation from 'Old Illinois.'"

The meeting followed commencement exercises in the college grove and was presided over by Dr. Harold Gibson, class of 1930, president of the Alumni association.

Special feature of the luncheon meeting was the election of Charles Dungan of Springfield as the first honorary alumnus of Illinois College. For many years an honorary member of Sigma Pi literary society and long active in young people's movements in his home city, Dungan has sent more than 100 students to Illinois College.

The new officers for 1952-53 were announced. They include John Belatti, president; Mrs. Jeanne R. Rammekamp, vice president; Dr. Robert R. Hartman, secretary-treasurer; and A. Wadsworth Applebee and Mrs. Ruth Eastin Hagan, directors of the Alumni Council.

The election of the new alumni member of the board of trustees, Rev. Fred Hoskins of Oak Park, also was announced.

The 50th, 40th and 25th anniversary classes were given special recognition. The 50th and 40th were tied in having the highest percentage of attendance, 88 percent, but the trophy was awarded to the class of 1902. It was accepted for the class by Dr. Egerton Crispin. Courtney Crouch Wright responded for the class of 1912 and Dr. George W. Adams represented the class of 1927.

Mrs. Carol Lohman, vice president of the Alumni association, was in charge of arrangements for the banquet. The invocation was given by Rev. Louis Arken of the senior class and the benediction by Rev. E. C. Pires, class of 1902.
